The John Doe Times is an on-line, electronic newsletter devoted to the Oklahoma City bombing conspiracy and coverup. It is published epileptically by the 1st Alabama Cavalry Regiment, Constitutional Militia and friends.

Readers may direct email to: Mo10Cav@aol.com. Snail mail, neo-Nazi letter bombs, etc. may be sent to P.O. Box 926, Pinson, AL 35126, where the FBI very carefully inspects each one. Our motto has always been: "Sic Semper Rodentia."

Well, here we go again.....

Well, well, Kirk Lyins is back on the fundraising gig, trying once again to rehabilitate Little Orphan Andy's reputation via his C.A.U.S.E. newsletter. Kirk decries what he calls "Strassmania"...I guess that must make all of us at the JDT (and our loyal readers) STRASSMANIACS!!! Among those Strassmaniacs must be counted Richard Reyna, the investigator for the McVeigh defense team that Dr. Pain (sp?) calls in his accompanying copyrighted piece "the Father of Lies." Oh my, Dr. Payne has really stepped in it this time. Richard Reyna is a "meat-eater" to use the SpecOps vernacular. Look for Reyna to respond in his own unique way.

And how about them Kehoes?!? Ratting one another out, giving the Feds great big clues about things like the Mueller murders and Elohim City. Yes, boys and girls, reliable rumor has it that the Kehoes track right backthrough the Elohim City front gate to, you-know-who-----yes, that's right children, Andy ("As pure-as-the-driven-snow) Strassmeir. Just another case of: "See? We told ya so!"

It has been suggested that what with Carol Howe's trial coming up and all, a "Carol Howe Fan Club" should be created. While we are a bit busy at the moment to organize one ourselves, I'll be glad to buy a gift membership for Dennis Mahon and Tom Metzger if someone should decide to found one.

Young Kehoe tabs brother in murder, sources report

By JUDD SLIVKA

Arkansas Democrat-Gazette

RUSSELLVILLE -- Despite law enforcement information that Chevie Kehoe of Washington state has been implicated by his brother in the 1996 murder of a Tilly gun dealer's family, Arkansas authorities are proceeding cautiously.

"We have been conducting interviews and search warrants in both in Utah and Washington," Pope County Sheriff Jay Winters said Monday afternoon. "But we don't want to say anything at this point. We've got to get some things checked out first."

Law enforcement sources told the Arkansas Democrat-Gazette Monday that Cheyne Kehoe, 21, had told investigators in Spokane, Wash., that his brother was involved in the murder of gun dealer William Mueller and his family of Tilly, about 40 miles northeast of Russellville.

But if Cheyne Kehoe has revealed anything to investigators, Arkansas authorities aren't willing to admit it.

"No charges have been prepared at this point," Pope County Prosecuting Attorney David Gibbons said after coming out of a two-hour meeting with Winters and his investigators. "And they will not be prepared until we're ready."

Winters and one of his investigators traveled to Utah and eastern Washington state last week after Cheyne Kehoe, one of two brothers wanted for allegedly shooting at Ohio police officers in February, surrendered to authorities in Stevens County, Wash. Cheyne's older brother, Chevie, 24, also faces an indictment for shooting at the police officers as well as being suspected in a 1995 weapons robbery in rural north-central Arkansas.

Chevie Kehoe was arrested in Cedar City, Utah, last week after Cheyne told authorities where they could find his brother, authorities said.

Arkansas State Police already have said that Chevie Kehoe is a prime suspect in a 1995 burglary at the Mueller home. More than $40,000 in guns, ammunition and other military supplies were stolen.

Mueller, 52, his wife Nancy, 28, and her daughter, Sarah Elizabeth Powell, 8, disappeared from their rural home in early January 1996, along with their Jeep and a trailer full of weapons and cash. The Jeep and trailer were found in February, but the money, the guns and the Muellers remained missing until their decomposing bodies were pulled out of Illinois Bayou near Russellville on June 28, 1996.

Authorities say they have linked Chevie Kehoe to the robbery because of two guns registered to Mueller that have appeared. The first, a .45-caliber pistol, surfaced in the spring of 1996 in a Seattle pawn shop. The man who came in to pawn the gun told police he had bought it from Kirby Kehoe, Chevie and Cheyne's father.

The second gun was a semiautomatic rifle registered to Mueller that was found in the possession of a white supremacist driving through South Dakota. The man, Sean Michael Haines, of Spokane, Wash., told authorities that he had swapped for the gun with Chevie Kehoe the previous summer.

But Arkansas authorities have not yet tagged Chevie Kehoe as a suspect in the Muellers' deaths.

"I think they're still key figures in that case," Winters said, repeating earlier statements in which he declined to name any member of the Kehoe family as a suspect in the Muellers' deaths.

In the meantime, Arkansas authorities are awaiting the results of chemical trials on new evidence. Police are hoping that flecks of blue-green paint found on the duct tape that was wrapped around the Muellers' bodies matches paint found on a truck that authorities were led to near Colville, Wash., soon after Cheyne Kehoe's arrest.

"We're waiting for analysis of those paint chips," Winters said. The chips were being analyzed at both the state crime lab in Little Rock and the FBI's lab in Quantico, Va.

Winters insists that despite the arrest of the two brothers, the investigation is a long way from over. "I don't know necessarily that we are any closer to solving the Muellers' murder," Winters said. "What we've done is pretty much found information, checked it out and created a to-do list. And that's what we're doing here.'

The Balance A Publication of CAUSE Foundation

Spring, 1997 Vol. 8, No. 1

Big Mother is Watching

CAUSE Initiates OPR Complaint Against FBI

It appears that Big Mother Reno's boys in the FBI have been up to their old dirty tricks again. In response to learning that the Feds possess the subpoenaed phone records of CAUSE Foundation, CAUSE has launched an Office of Professional Responsibility (OPR) complaint with the Justice Department. CAUSE seeks to determine the reasons that were used to support this unprincipled and probably illegal subpoena. Upon determining the facts surrounding this case, CAUSE will file suit should it be warranted.

For anyone who has spent any time in dissident circles, it is a common place when talking about certain verboten subjects to joke about the room or the phone being bugged. Although, usually tossed off flippantly, those privy to the conversation know all too well that this is no joking matter. Here in the "freest democracy in the world" we have come to expect these police-state tactics as a cost of doing business.

In spite of the fact that CAUSE Foundation is a law office and in spite of the "attorney-client privilege" that we presume still exists, we always try to act under the assumption that we are probably being monitored by the "freest Democracy in the world." We try to be careful about what we say over the phones. We also caution anyone that calls to be careful, especially if what they are saying begins to stray beyond the protections of the First Amendment. Some might call this paranoid, we prefer the term prudent. As it turns out, a reporter called in early April to ask us if we knew that our phone records had been subpoenaed by the FBI. At first we were incredulous, but not only did he have a photocopy of the request for CAUSE phone records, but also requested were Executive Director Lyons' and Associate Director Hollaway's home phone records. Associate Director Payne was spared this intrusion simply because he cannot afford a phone. If this were not enough of an illegal fishing expedition, they also grabbed the records of a neighbor whose only connection to CAUSE Foundation is that he lives next door.

These records spanned a seventeen month period from January of 1994 to May of 1995. They reflected all telephone numbers of every call placed to and placed from these phones. We have not yet determined whether or not during this time they were also actively eavesdropping on phone conversations.

This is an outrageous abuse of the police-state powers that this government has arrogated to itself. Long-time supporters of CAUSE Foundation will recall that in September of 1993 we launched the first lawsuit against the Federal government regarding the Waco holocaust. During the time covered in the subpoenaed records, CAUSE and its directors made many calls to potential witnesses and expert witnesses. For the Feds to filch these records gives them an unfair advantage in this litigation.

As Kirk Lyons was quoted in an interview with the Rocky Mountain News out of Denver, "This is a free look for them at any witnesses we've called in our Waco investigation." Lyons further characterized this latest affront as illegal saying, "A lot of those calls are privileged. I think there should be a higher standard when it involves a law firm with attorney-client privilege."

Theoretically, all communications between clients or potential clients and attorneys are confidential and should be off-limits to government scrutiny. A person's right to counsel is one of our guaranteed rights. The attorney-client privilege was instituted to insure that an individual can feel completely free in seeking counsel. The prospect of government surveillance inhibits the free exercise of that right. Are there any rights these people respect?

At any rate, the first step is to initiate an OPR investigation. According to the book Inside the F.B.I. the federales really hate these OPR things. CAUSE is certainly very broken up to know that. Nevertheless, CAUSE will pursue this to see what they will divulge. If the facts warrant further action, we will take it. This may even lead to a class action suit. Then, everyone whose phone number showed up on those records or even those who avoided calling for fear of being recorded could conceivably participate in teaching the F.B.I. a civics lesson.

JDT Commentary: I must be getting jaded, for the above not only fails to outrage me but there are aspects of this that I find wildly funny. First, if this were any ordinary law firm or bunch of citizens, I might get pretty upset at the FBI requesting the phone records of someone who was suing them. But then, these guys are the same guys who helped CIA Petruskie get Strassmeir settled into the "racialist movement" in a big way. These are the same guys who claim that Andy was victimized by his family and the German government's "political correctness" campaign, wanting you to forget at the same time that they bragged about how GSG-9 helped them get Andy back to the bosom of his loving family in Berlin. These are the same guys who shielded a material witness (perhaps THE material witness) to the OKC bombing conspiracy from the press and talk about how afraid they were that the bad old FBI would get their innocent-as-the-driven-snow client, and then in the next breath would talk about how wonderful the FBI was, that the Feds certainly didn't want to talk to Andy about anything so gauche as the OKC bombing and his little Elohim City Fed-rat friends.

The phone records in question are for the OKC bombing investigation, not the Waco suit-- although Kirk doesn't mention that, does he? Frankly, the notion that the FBI is checking up on one of their own is certainly not surprising. I wish Mr. Lyins well in his OPR suit. Will he be suing his FBI contact as well?

* * * * *

Kirk Lyins continues:

From the Executive Director

For more than a year now we have received the occasional call or letter from a supporter asking about Andi Strassmeir. Some have accused us of obstruction of Justice, by helping Andi return to Germany, some have taken us to task for helping Andi when it might jeopardize the Waco case. Others have written to tell us that Andi is definitely an "infiltrator." Others have told us that because we represent Andi, they will no longer support us! Rarely in my career have I been more ashamed of the Patriotic "movement." Having personal knowledge of most of the facts surrounding Andi I have been amazed at the level of "I know it all" posturing by so-called Patriot journalists and leaders who by their very statements make it obvious that they don't know the first thing about Andreas Strassmeir.

The only mistake we have made in our representation of Andi, is that we made him available to McVeigh's investigator. All the falsehoods about Andi emanate from that mistake. Andi has been made available to the Feds and against our advice has talked repeatedly to the media (none of whom has yet to get the story straight). Andi is a victim of being an intelligent foreigner  who makes a convenient bogey man for all the people trying to hang the OKC bombing on the Feds. For all we know the Feds may have been involved, but Andi was not. People want to believe the stories about Andi, because it is neat and convenient (especially if you disregard seminal facts).

JDT Commentary: "Intelligent foreigner", huh? Well I'm glad to see Andy's intelligence quotient has taken an uptick since Mr. Lyins' sidekick Dr. Payne called Andy an "idiot savant." LOL!!

Opportunists like J.D. Cash, Stephen Jones, and a lot of so-called patriot journalists cannot pass up the chance to embarrass the Feds, even if it destroys the reputation of an innocent man like Andi. When faced with the hysteria surrounding Andi we did the right thing, he asked for our help and we helped him.

JDT Commentary: "Captain Kirk!! Watch out, ye are fallin' into a time warp!!" Sorry Kirk...first came you and Petruskie getting him into the country, years of introducing him around in "the Movement", placing him at Elohim City, then came the bombing, then came almost a year while the FBI ignored your "client" (No "hysteria" then!). Then only when the media started asking some uncomfortable questions did you guys freak and rush him back to the bosom of Der Fatherland. You were helping him years before the "hysteria" and you're helping him today.

I cannot see honorably doing otherwise. I would do it again. Protecting underdogs is our business, and knowing Andi simply reassured us that we were helping someone who had been unfairly targeted for persecution. We have not seen a single iota of REAL evidence to lead us to change our opinion of Andi. We do not believe he is an informant, and we do not believe he had any involvement in the OKC bombing. We did not obstruct justice as some knee jerk hotheads have claimed.

JDT Commentary: All right!! Now I can have a ballcap made that says "Knee Jerk Hothead" on the front and "Strassmaniac!" on the back!!

We simply put him under the protection of his own family and country's laws, before making him available to the world.

He is still available to the press, and by subpoena to the Feds, Stephen Jones and the OKC bombing Civil suit (although the families have yet to serve him in that suit). Nobody apparently really wants to hear Andi under oath, or he would already have been subpoenaed or served. The power boys, the defense and the media want him beyond their reach, so they can continue to savage him without offering him a chance to defend himself. Note that Stephen Jones did not subpoena Andi, but tried to get in anti-Strassmeir myths through ATF snitch Carol Howe.

Amazingly, the "patriot" press has accorded the statements of a paid ATF liar the status of holy writ.

Another example of the gullibility of "patriot journalists" is the story of the super secret documents found in Andi's wreck of a car when it was impounded by Oklahoma State troopers. These goons then burglarized Andi's briefcase, and rifled his private papers. A legion of ridiculous stories has emanated from the contents of Andi's briefcase. Nobody has bothered to verify any of it by calling us.

The most ridiculous story is from the wrecker driver, Kenny Peace, who claims that everyone from George Bush to Helmut Kohl called him demanding the release of Andi's car. If Peace were honest in his recollection he would recall that he received calls from me, Dave Hollaway, and the Oklahoma Attorney General, who ordered the car released so Andi would not sue the troopers for illegally burglarizing his car. Such is the nonsense we have responded to.

Another facet is all the "eyewitness" ID's of Andi, by little people seeking their 15 minutes of fame, including a bimbo who "entertained" 200 servicemen over one summer. We have scrutinized these statements thoroughly, and it is abundantly clear to us that the people making these statements know nothing about Andi Strassmeir, and did not meet him. Again, we have not seen a SHRED of real evidence that implicates Andi in anything connected to Oklahoma City, as informant or otherwise.

JDT Commentary: Readers of the JDT are referred to back issues of same for reality check after exposure to above sophistrys.

The cost of Andi's representation has not been borne by you, our supporters, but from a private contributor who believes in Andi's innocence.

JDT Commentary: Whoa up, Kirk! You don't think these poor folks memories are that bad, do you?!? Wasn't it not too long ago you were hitting them up for money based on the fact that you had spent CAUSE money you couldn't afford to get Little Orphan Andy out of the country? Which is true? Both? Neither?

We expect our supporters to vigorously question all theories about the OKC bombing as is their right and obligation. We also expect them to demand honesty and objectivity from their news sources and to presume people like Andi Strassmeir innocent until FACTS, not gossip, prove otherwise. It is indeed unfortunate that Judge Matsch in Denver has barred the McVeigh defense team from putting on evidence of an "international conspiracy" into the OKC criminal trial, which does suggest that the Feds have something to hide. But fact finding and investigation will continue nonetheless, and Andi will be made available to responsible fact finders so suspicion of him may be eventually eliminated.

We do not intend to allow the nuisance of "Strassmania" to deter us from our Waco work. The Balance is taking up this issue this time only, because you, our supporters have a right to be informed - a duty we take very seriously.

Please read the article by Dr. Payne very carefully. If you have questions or comments please do not hesitate to call or write myself or Dr. Payne.
